

DPN's Blog

Welcome to our new website

We hope you like the feel and look of our new website. Effort has been made to improve the navigation and accessibility, which now complies with Level A of the W3C's Web Content Accessibility Guidelines. There are many new features designed to make the site more interactive and easier for you to get in touch with us and others within the DPN community, such as our mailing list and online forms. So please take a good look around and tell us what you think?

Thanks

Dean, DPN Website Coordinator